

Debbie Rempfer

Senior Executive Assistant KSEF

drempfer@kstc.com

859.246.3232

Linked-in www.linkedin.com/pub/debbie-rempfer/1b/75a/794/en

Debbie Rempfer joined KSTC in August 2006 and is the Senior Executive Assistant for the Kentucky Science and Engineering Foundation (KSEF). She supports the KSEF Executive Director and manages the KSEF website. She provides administrative assistance for the Kentucky Science and Engineering Foundation including the Research and Development Excellence Program; Kentucky Commercialization Fund; SBIR Connect; Kentucky SBIR/STTR Phase Zero and Phase Double Zero Program; the Kentucky SBIR/STTR Resource Center; and SBIR/STTR conferences, clinics, workshops, webinars, and other training opportunities.

Debbie's business experience includes executive support, publications, web and print media, office management, client and customer care, personnel and benefits, and finance and policy administration. Her professional background includes working at Artemetrx, CHA Health, the Center for Psychological Health, and Good News Magazine before joining KSTC. In addition, she is a published author (David C. Cook Publishing Company), and worked as an editor and writer for Bristol Books. Debbie received her Bachelor's degree from Asbury University.