Debbie Rempfer joined KSTC in August 2006 and is the Senior Executive Assistant for the Kentucky Science and Engineering Foundation (KSEF). She supports the KSEF Executive Director and provides administrative assistance for KSEF, the Research and Development Excellence Program (RDE), the Kentucky Commercialization Fund (COMM), the Kentucky SBIR/STTR Phase Zero and Phase Double Zero Program (PZ/DZ), SBIR Connect, and the Kentucky SBIR/STTR Proposal Preparation Workshops and Conferences organized by KSEF and KSTC.

Debbie's business experience includes executive support, publications and print media, business and medical office management, personnel, benefits, and finance and policy administration. Her professional background includes working at Artemetrx, CHA Health, and the Center for Psychological Health before joining KSTC. In addition, she is a published author (David C. Cook Publishing Company), and worked as an editor and writer for Bristol Books. Debbie received her Bachelor's degree from Asbury University.
